

MOM®1 and MOM®6 :

HIGH-TECH PROTECTIVE PENDANT

an unexpected solution for electrosensitive people

Some may think that this is just another "gimmick" from some insensitive opportunist. But I can answer that it is not, because we have tested it on electrosensitive people and also on ourselves - even though we are not - and it brings us, according to each one, either an unusual well-being or an increase in vitality.

The inventor, Hubert MAUERER, was inspired by the multiple frequency oscillator of Georges Lakhovsky (1870-1942), which many people have probably already heard of. Basically, the basic principle is that each type of living cell has its own frequency, and accidental drift of this frequency leads to disease.

Lakhovsky's device can be thought of as a distributor of cosmic resonances of life, having the effect of recalibrating organisms to the correct biological frequencies - or in computer parlance performing a 'factory reset' that erases bugs and parasitic programs.

By analogy in the toxic vibrational context in which we evolve, MOM technology has the effect, according to my vision, of maintaining our organism in a state of "permanent reset of perfect functioning" in spite of the electromagnetic pollutions which surround us. Better still, MOM technology promises to transform toxic electromagnetic waves into health-generating universal scalar waves - (Nikola Tesla had already achieved such things).

But how can this be done?

Hubert MAUERER explains that the MOM system transforms vertically polarised electromagnetic waves (harmful waves) into horizontally polarised waves (beneficial waves) by tilting the polarisation plane by 90°.

According to him, this tilting creates a superposition of converging and diverging concentric waves in the horizontal plane, which generates a field of helical (corkscrew) scalar waves. A scalar wave is therefore the product of the superposition of a convergent EM wave and a divergent EM counter-wave of the same frequency and power.

What exactly are scalar waves?

Notice first of all that they resemble the shape of the DNA chains, which thus turn out to be scalar antennas. It is also known that the DNA of every cell has a magnetic scalar wave running through it, enabling it to communicate with the billions of other cells in the body. Thus, when you have been injured on a finger, your whole organism is immediately aware of it, which causes an alert of the adrenals, a rise in local temperature, and the installation of a cleaning, disinfection and repair site (leucocytes, lymphocytes, enzymes, stem cells, etc.).

We are in fact bathed in the permanent inaudible background noise of a cocktail of waves coming from the sun, the rocks, the earth, the living beings around us and the entire universe. Without this continuous bath, no life forms would be possible. Rabbits have been locked in thick lead cages, fed, watered, ventilated and lit artificially, yet they would die within 8 days from what could be called "cosmic hunger".

Scalar waves ignore the speed of light of 300,000km/s and are capable of carrying almost instantaneously millions of kilometres without weakening. Nikola Tesla sent electrical energy thousands of kilometres by scalar waves without any line loss (this is where Westinghouse did not follow him, because he wanted electricity to be paid for!) Finally, unlike classical waves, the propagation speed of scalar waves is very variable; they can even distort the space-time matrix (thought waves and spiritual waves).

Related applications of MOM technology

Although its major use is to protect against harmful EM waves by transforming them into life-enhancing scalar waves, MOM technology offers other interesting properties that have been recorded over time:

- It accelerates healing and the reconstitution of tissues.
- It activates cell regeneration.
- It softens the mood, relaxes and makes you more receptive.
- It reduces and calms pain.
- It mobilises the immune system and reactionary processes.
- It provokes a general relaxation and an elimination of stress.
- It rebalances the two cerebral hemispheres.
- It reharmonises the chakras in 20 minutes.
- It surrounds you with a small filtering cloud that protects you.

Note: Our personal experience has shown that when first wearing the MOM 1 pendant, there can be somewhat surprising adjustments, such as a strong desire to sleep in the middle of the day, but it is not certain that this will happen to everyone. but it is not certain that this will happen to everyone; moreover, we made our first attempts during a period of great astral period, given the current events. In this case, remove the pendant for 24 hours and try again.

MOM®6

This pendant is a brand new version of the MOM 1 - which was made on a drop-shaped olive wood stand.

Version 6 - which is miniaturised into a tiny purple cube, made possible by the use of electronic microcircuits (thus more discreet) - is even more powerful.

With MOM® devices, it is not only a question of protection, but of reversing the morbid radiation from WIFI, mobile phones, the Linky meter, TV and computer radiation, into processes that are beneficial to health.

Therefore, what was "against us" becomes "for us". All electrical devices become friends of our health! The effects are immediately palpable, and it is so obvious that people around you will want one too.

For the end here is my own testimony:

(because I try everything I promote)

After a few days of wanting to sleep in the middle of the day (the energy reset I mentioned above) :

- Vital energy level at my maximum from the start (9/10).
- Stabilization of my heart, which for years had been going into arrhythmia for no reason.
- Intestine which was unstable (yo-yo diarrhoea/constipation) and very disturbed for years, now works perfectly.
- Better quality of sleep by keeping the pendant on at night (5 hours are enough for me).